五、閱讀測驗(共 0 分,每題 0 分)

1. Modern technology can solve a lot of problems, but it can also be the source of them. In today's world, we are closer than ever before. Our electronic devices allow us to communicate instantly with each other no matter where we are. It's so easy to send a quick message on a smartphone that we expect others to respond immediately. But what happens when they don't?

Anxiety (焦慮) can easily creep in when someone doesn't answer a message right away. You may wonder why your friend hasn't replied to your text—Are they mad at you? Did you say something wrong? As the minutes or hours pass by with no answer, you become more and more unhappy.

Actually, an unanswered message usually means nothing. There are many reasons someone didn't respond right away, and most of the time, it has nothing to do with you. The first tip to fighting message anxiety is not to take it personally. Second, don't check your phone constantly. It only increases your anxiety. Last but not least, after you sent a message, you should immediately move on to something else. Don't just wait for a response.

The most important thing to remember is that not everyone has the same communication style. In fact, some people think sending text messages is the worst way to contact others. If you really want an immediate response, you should call them on the phone. Remember, we all used much simpler ways to communicate before smartphones appeared!

- (1) () According to the passage, why are people today closer to one another than before?
- (A) Modern technology makes communication easy and fast.
(B) People today like to visit friends who are far away.
(C) Friendship keeps people from being anxious about the future.
(D) Family values are strongly rooted in the hearts of modern people.
- (2) () The phrase “creep in” in the second paragraph can be replaced by “_____.”
- (A) prevent (B) stop (C) enter (D) decrease
- (3) () Which of the following ways to deal with an unanswered message is NOT mentioned in the passage?
- (A) Call your friend to see if he or she is mad at you.
(B) Don't take it personally because it may have nothing to do with you.
(C) Don't check your phone all the time.
(D) Move on and do something else instead of waiting.
- (4) () According to the passage, when people don't receive an immediate response, they _____.
- (A) don't take it personally (B) become anxious
(C) feel happy (D) send the message again
- (5) () According to the passage, which of the following statements is true?
- (A) We can use the phone instead of sending a message to avoid message anxiety.
(B) We should call other and ask why they don't respond to the messages immediately.
(C) We should not be open to modern technology.
(D) Unanswered messages have very little influence on people.
